REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD

To the School Board and Citizens of Stoddard:

I submit my second annual report as superintendent of schools. I wish first to speak of your local school conditions and then to call attention to some of the features of the organizations that have been developed to carry out the provisions of the law of 1919.

The scarcity of teachers throughout the year 1919-1920 was serious. Teachers could be had for city and village schools, though not all of these were well qualified, but in many cases none could be found for the schools that are remote from railroad stations or large villages. The situation in your schools throughout the year was but one illustration of the seriousness of the teacher shortage. With the opening of schools last fall the situation was somewhat improved, but not by any means restored to normal. The well qualified, experienced teachers are still able to find positions more to their liking in village schools or in schools not so remote as those in Stoddard. Increased salaries for teachers, and decreased demand for women in other occupations, are tending all the while to increase the supply of teachers, so that in the near future we may expect to be able to secure trained and experienced teachers in schools that are too large or for some other reason to difficult for beginners.

There is one condition that is common in rural communities that makes schools in these places unattractive to teachers. I refer to the fact that it is almost impossible to find a boarding place for the teacher. This makes it hard for one to find suitable living conditions, and it also seems to show a lack of appreciation of the work of a teacher, whether that is the real feeling of the people or not, and makes it unpleasant for her. The interest of the community in the welfare of the children, in the homes that are not blessed with children of their own as well as in the homes of the parents, ought to be great enough to induce people to open their homes for the accommodation of the teacher. When it is only after repeated urging that one family consents to make the sacrifice that is involved in taking a boarder there should be others who would be willing to take their turn at some other time. The spirit of helpfulness and cooperation should prevail to such an extent that each is willing to do his share in whatever is necessary for the good of the community. You cannot have good schools without teachers, and you cannot have the good teachers without providing them with a good place to live. The solution of the matter depends largely upon the community. I speak thus freely and frankly because I believe it is this condition in your community that is the greatest obstacle to having good schools.

You had in Mrs. Fiske a teacher who had had no special training or previous experience in teaching, but one whose natural ability and practical knowledge of children made successful in spite of the handicap. Under her guidance the school steadily improved in general tone and in scholarship. It is unfortunate that she was obliged to withdraw. The school at South Stoddard has not been so successful and the withdrawal of the teacher there leaves us without the possibility of getting another during the winter, chiefly for the very reason I have mentioned above. I said in my report last year that the two schools ought to be combined at the earliest practicable time, and I am convinced that that time has come now. These six children can be carried the three miles to the village without undue hardship, and with a good teacher their progress in a larger school will surely be much more satisfactory.

The improvements that have been made in the schoolhouse at the Center have made it much more satisfactory, especially the whitening of the ceiling and the lighter color of the walls. The lighting, however, is still inadequate and does not meet the requirements of the State Board. These requirements were stated briefly in my report last year and have not been altered, but on account of the very general shortage of labor during the year the State Board extended the time limit for the completion of the necessary alterations from September 1, 1919, to September 1, 1920. That time limit is now overrun and something should be done at the first opportunity to provide better lighting. The windows are too small and there are not enough of them, and the lighting should be chiefly from the pupils' left hand side.

For an extended discussion of the working of the new school law I must refer you to the biennial report of the State Board of Education, but for the benefit of many to whom that report is not available I will summarize some of the most important features. The State Board has authority under the law to "make such rules and regulations as may seem desirable to secure the efficient administration of the public schools," and the law further provides that "it shall be the duty of the school boards and employees of school districts to comply with the rules and regulations of the state board." Accordingly such rules and regulations have been prescribed and some of the most important of them are in substance as follows:

1. The School Board shall elect the teachers upon recommendation of the superintendent and fix their salaries; employ janitors and other necessary employes; authorize all purchases; provide approved schoolhouses and proper transportation; prepare a budget of expenditures and, in state-aided districts, keep accounts in a prescribed manner; hold meetings at least once in two months, require the superintendent to be present, and keep record of transactions; and upon recommendation of the superintendent determine the subjects of instruction.

2. The Superintendent shall be nominated by the joint board of the union and employed by the state board and he shall give his entire time to the performance of his duties; he shall enforce the rules and regulations of the state board and the school board and the laws relating to the school attendance and employment of children, reporting violations of these and other laws relating to the welfare of children to the proper officers; he shall direct and supervise the work of the teachers and janitors and have the necessary authority to make such direction effective; nominate all teachers; select and purchase text books and supplies in accordance with the rules of the school board and the state board; keep records and make reports of his doings; remove any teacher or other employee found to be immoral or incompetent, subject to the law provided for such cases; provide for temporary vacancies, and secure fuel and other supplies immediately needed if the school board fails to do so; admit pupils to school in accordance with the laws of the state and the rules of the state board, assign them to classes and grades, and promote them in accordance with their attainments.

3. The Programs of Studies prepared by the State Board are accepted and approved, and a standard school shall be equipped with books, supplies and apparatus sufficient to perform the work outlined in them. Regulations have been set for the required subjects and minimum standards in the first three grades, and are in preparation for the next three grades.

4. Health and Physical Welfare. Every district shall employ a school physician who shall make at least one annual examination of the pupils, report defects found to the parents, and with the teachers and the superintendent labor to secure remedial treatment. The superintendent shall see that physical exercises and drill have a place in the school program, and he shall examine school buildings and surroundings, recommend to the school board such changes as are needed, and if unable to make such recommendations effective he shall report to the Commissioner of Education and to the State Board of Health.

5. Shortened School Year. The law prescribes that all schools shall be maintained for at least thirty-six weeks in each year, but it also provides that special permission may be given by the state board upon application of the school board of the district to reduce the number of weeks. Unless such permission is given, "it is then the duty of the Commissioner, if any school board should fail in its duty, to direct the superintendent in charge to continue the schools. The expenditures may be paid from the funds of the State Board of Education and reimbursement for monies so advanced by the State Board must be provided for by the district at a special meeting or at its next annual meeting." (This regulation was adopted July 20, 1920.)

In closing I wish to make an appeal to the people of Stoddard in behalf of the children of the town. The schools are yours; the responsibility for their quality and efficiency is yours; the children are worthy of the best that liberality, interest and cooperation on the part of all the people, as well as the School Board and Superintendent, can provide for them. These children will become the citizens of tomorrow and it is in your power to make of them good citizens, well educated and trained, or poor ones, and your town in the future will be what your children make of it.

Respectfully,

VERNON S. AMES,

Marlboro, N. H., January 31, 1921.
